1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

This image shows a vertical strip of a document page, heavily degraded and noisy. A dark, textured band runs down the center, likely representing the binding or a heavily shadowed area. The surrounding areas are light gray with significant noise and speckling, suggesting a poor quality scan or a damaged original document. No text or other graphical elements are discernible.

This image shows a vertical strip of a document page. On the left side, there is a dark, textured binding or edge. The main part of the strip is a light-colored page with some faint, illegible text and a small, dark, triangular mark near the bottom. The overall appearance is that of a scanned document edge.

 (From The New York City Catholic News.)
 No one would think to look at Richard B. Brown, a commission merchant, of 110 Broadway, New York City, that for six weeks he had suffered in agony in his bed and that physicians had pronounced him incurable, and that he had been unable to regain his health.

But now he is back in his office, vigorous and healthy. He regards Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy as the savior of his life. Mr. Brown says: "I am a married man, and my wife is a mother of four children. I am now able to do my work, and I am now able to do my work, and I am now able to do my work."
